

MILDENHALL RALLY

The Mildenhall Rally has been an annual cycletouring event since the early 1990's. Held during the August Bank holiday weekend, it is organised by Max Pendelton, father of Olympic Cyclist Victoria.

Max Pendelton acts as pacemaker during the heats of the grass track competitions.

The Rally has been a very popular event, developing top riders that have gone on to win National and International recognition. Riders such as Olympic champions Victoria Pendleton CBE, and Nicole Cooke OBE honed their bike handling skills on Mildenhall's grass-track.

More recently Laura Trott was a regular at the Rally, until she shot to prominence at the Commonwealth Games, before taking the London Olympics by storm in 2012.

In 2010 Laura Trott won the Women's National 800m Grass-Track Championship after powering her way to victory over Border City Wheelers starlet Jo Smith at the weekend's Mildenhall Cycling Rally .
